From the "Amen" Corner.

The Coldwater, Okla., Star tells this story of a local incident:

"You can always count on a Coldwater man doing justice to a subject.
Last Sunday, in one of the pews of a church here, a man was suddenly awakened by a vicious bite of a fly on his bald head. Not realizing where he was, he struck at the offender and audibly remarked:

"D—n the flies."

"The remark aroused a Deacon in the next pew, who fervently shouted "Amen."

London, Ky., as Seen By a Visitor

Having read so many newspaper items from London, Ky., giving accounts of feuds and numerous assassinations and killings, we expected to find a people different in religious and moral sentiment, but on the contrary we found a deep religious and moral feeling that afforded us a most agreeable surprise. Indeed the people of London, Ky., and of Laurel county in general, are among the best people whom we have ever met. They are industrious, enterprising, sober (not a saloon in the county) moral and religious. They are also many of them, cultured and refined, standing for all that is best in our civil and social life.

On reflecting on the situation and making some inquiry about the great number of dispatches in our newspapers from that point, we found that London is the central news point from several of the mountain counties and that practically none of the records of crime sent from London or Laurel county, were committed there but have been gathered to this point from ten or a dozen counties.

The Sue Bennett Memorial School at London, under the efficient management of Prof. Lewis, is doing a great work. The people there are alive to the benefits to be derived from the right kind of education and are making rapid progress in this line. In conclusion, we were delighted with London and are anxious to visit that beautiful little mountain city again.

Honesty Delayed.

Andrew Hurst, a former resident of Esbon, Okla., recently sent $5 to a man whom he had robbed of some watermelons 18 years ago.

"I was led into the evil way by others and am sorry for it and hope you will forgive me. I have been converted and am going to make everything right with my fellow men. I served the devil for 24 years but am going to serve the Lord the balance of my life."

Meat for Millions.

The daily capacity of the Union Stock Yards in Chicago is 745,000 cattle, 300,000 hogs and 50,000 sheep, persons employed in and about the yards number 45,000, upon whom are dependent probably a quarter million relatives.

Within the square mile occupied by the stock yards are 200 acres of pens, 20 miles of street, 20 miles of watering troughs, 55 miles of drainage and water pipes and 150 miles of railroad tracks. The stock yards were founded in 1865. With accessories, they represent invested capital of $67,000,000.

Chicago literally supplies the world with meats. The armies of England, France, Germany and Russia subsist upon fare prepared there, as do a great part of the population of those countries.

The Union Stock yards received last year 2,613,630 head of cattle, or 1,929,- 923 more than St. Louis, 1,893,368 more than Omaha, and 767,397 more than Kansas City.

Nearly twice the number of sheep slaughtered in Kansas City, Omaha and St. Louis are killed annually in Chicago, while much of the stock sold in other cities finds its destination in Chicago.

Since the establishment of the Union Stock yards 352,000,000 live animals have been received, of which 12,370,- 000 were shipped away alive, leaving a total of 339,630,000 animals killed and packed in 40 years at this chief center of the meat industry.

Most Merciless Penalty.

The group of "artists" in the boot-blackening establishment were discussing the forms of capital punishment and had entered into a spirited debate as to what constituted the worst possible method of punishment. One of the number held that the electrocution of a man was too merciful a way in which to punish him for taking human life.
The argument waxed warm, when an interested junk dealer who was emptying a box of rubbish into a large bag, took a hand in the game and said:

"Hangin' was too good for dem; 'lectricity was too good for dem also."

"Why," said one of the bystanders, "can you imagine any greater punishment than taking away a man's life?"

"Sure," was the answer, "dey ought to put dem in pizness and not let dem have any customers."

Old Time Acting.

The old time actor had peculiar and primitive views as to elocution and its uses. I remember a certain old friend of mine who, when he recited the opening speech in "Richard III." and arrived at the line, "In the deep bosom of the ocean buried," suggested the deep bosom of the ocean by sending his voice into his boots. Yet these were fine actors, to whom certain young gentlemen who never saw them constantly refer. The methods of the stage have completely changed and with them the tastes of the people. The probability is that some of the old actors of only a few years ago would excite much merriment in their delineation of tragedy. A very great tragedian of a past generation was wont in the tent scene in "Richard III." to hold a piece of soap in his mouth, so that, after the appearance of the ghosts, the lather and froth might dribble down his chin, and he employed moreover a trick sword which rattled hideously, and, what with his foam flecked face, his rolling eyes, his inarticulate groans and his rattling blade, the small boy in the gallery was scared into a frenzy of vociferous delight!—Richard Mansfield in Atlantic.

Proficient.

When western Iowa was newly settled the farmers in an isolated section banded themselves together as a school district and proceeded to choose one of their number committeeman. A log schoolhouse was erected, and soon a young woman came that way seeking a chance to teach. The committeeman was designated to ascertain her fitness.

When the time for the ordeal arrived the public official was at his wit's end.
He had been examined himself often enough, but that was when he was attending district school fifty years before. The very thought of conducting an examination himself, and for a teacher at that, staggered him. He could not think of a question to ask.

The young woman sat waiting, and the old man teetered nervously on his tiptoes.

"Well, now, Miss Burden," he said cautiously at last, "kin you say the alphabet backwards?"

Miss Burden could, and did.

"Fine!" cried the committeeman. "I'll just indorse your certificate." He wrote it thus:

"Fully profeshunt."

A Great Stamp Forgery.

The most colossal stamp forgery on record entailed the successful swindling of collectors throughout Europe in 1889. One day the French papers announced that King Marie I. of Se-dang, an island in the vicinity of China, was coming to Paris. As it happened, this self created monarch was an ex-officer of the French navy, and his appearance in Paris created considerable sensation. As soon as his majesty had been duly "advertised" sets of seven different postage stamps marked "Sedang" and bearing three half moons appeared, and so great was the demand for them that in less than a month they realized 1,000 francs each. Not until the king and his ministers had reaped fat fortunes in this manner was it discovered that the whole thing was a hoax and the stamps consequently worthless.

Some Slips of the Tongue.

Never use the word "liable" when you mean "likely." Do not say, for instance, that "he is liable to come in at any moment." "Liable" implies misfortune and means "exposed to," "subject to," "in danger of."

Why do most of us speak of "unraveling a mystery?" Any good dictionary shows that "ravel" means "to unweave." You "ravel" a mystery, therefore, when you solve it. In "Hamlet" Shakespeare says: "Make you to ravel all this matter out."

If you and your friend Smith know a man called Jones, do not speak to Smith of "our mutual friend"—meaning Jones, Jones is your common friend. If you are friendly to Smith and Smith is friendly to you, you and Smith are "mutual friends," but that is the only sense in which the term may be rightly used.

Agreed With Her.

After an all night session with the boys a husband wended his way home, arriving there at about 5 a. m. He found his wife waiting for him in the dining room, the confusion of furniture indicating that she had been having an unhappy time.

"This is a nice time for you to be coming home," snapped the wife.

"Yes," admitted the erring husband.

"It's a lovely morning."

"I haven't slept a wink this blessed night," with a severe look.

"Neither have I," said the husband.

The Real Simon Pure.

"The real simon pure" is one of those phrases which every one understands and not one in a hundred could account for. Simon Pure was a Pennsylvania Quaker in Mrs. Centlivre's "A Bold Stroke For a Wife," produced at Drury Lane theater, London, in February, 1718. One Colonel Feignwell passes himself off as Simon and wins the heart of a Bristol heiress, Miss Lovely, after which the real Simon Pure turns up.

Old Shoes for Sausage.

"A 'Hotel Keeper' writes thus to a newspaper: 'For 5 years I have kept a hotel in the town in which I live and during that time have accumulated fully half a ton of old rubbers and overshoes, left by guests. Do you know whether or not there is a market for such things?' The answer is:
"Dispose of them to some of the Chicago packing houses."

Huge Task.

It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Iowa, but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach." Guaranteed by Oberdorfer, the druggist. Price 50c.
